Copyright, 1987, by the California Associated Press. Washington, July 3d.—[Special.]—The ersistency with which Senator Colquitt has been put forward the past few days as the probable successor of Secretary Lamar, should the latter go to the Supreme Bench, has drawn public attention to that gentle-man. In Washington Senator Colquitt is looked upon as one of the sensible busi-ness Senators, with a leaning toward conservatism and a disposition to talk but ittle. He was twice elected Governor of Georgia, and showed great ability in managing the affairs of that State. He has, like Mahone, a strong belief in the recuperative powers of the South, and in a business sense's libera land progressive. He is a shining light in the Methodist Church, and above all is a great friend of Lamar, with whose views he is in perfect accord, and whose policy in the management of the Interior Department he would carry out to the letter were he made Secretary. It not unlikely that Assistant Secretary Muldrow will receive some consideratio or a place under the civil service policy. but there is some latent opposition to him n the Department. There is a movement on foot also among Pennsylvania Democrats to have Solicitor General Jenks appointed in Lamar's place, and it is known that the President has received the suggestion with considerable in-terest. He likes Jenks, and would appoint him Secretary if the public policy would be subserved thereby. The fact is the President has felt much safer regarding his Department of Justice, since Jenks has gone there, and is strongly opposed to his leaving while Garland is at the head of it. As has been already stated, however, the President is determined to secure a good business man for the head of his Interior Department, and all pressure and political offuence in the world will not secure any

WASHINGTON July 3d -The Commi oner of Patents has finished for publication a statement upon the subject of the deficiency in the accounts of the late Levi Båcon, financial clerk of the Patent Office. A thorough examination has not yet been made, but a partial investigation by the committee shows an apparent shortage of $33,000, about $4,500 of which was in the attorney's fund, leaving an apparent deficit of about $28,500 in his accounts with the overnment, against which were found due ills from employes and others, dishonored drafts and miscellaneous memoranda, aggregating about $17,000, which leaves $11,-

CRAZY MRS. BROOKS. The Mysterious Miss Butterfield Relates a Wild Yarn.

CHICAGO, July 3d.—A special dispatch to a morning paper from Caro, Michigan, says: Mrs. Brooks, whose peculiar disap-pearance from her home at Juniata, near here, and whose sensational letter from her place of imprisonment in Colorado was given wide publicity, has returned home with a remarkable story which she told to-day amid a torrent of tears. She is looking haggard and careworn. Her wrists bear evidence of her assertion that she was brutally tied up. Her fingers' ends cer-tainly look as if her claim that an attempt was made to draw her nails with pincers is true. She said : "Twenty-two years ago I was engaged to e married to Marcus Vandore. He entered be married to Marcus Vandore. He entered the army, was wounded, came home and died. He was possessed of a competency, but just before his death this was increased by a large legacy from France. Marcus was a descendant of Count Vandore, a French nobleman. This legacy was all in cash and bonds. Before his death Vandore made a will bequeathing me $300,000. The instrument was drawn by lawyer Shoeman of Indiana. It was not until several years later that I became apprized of the nature of the will, and I was then married to Mr. Brooks. When I spoke of proving my claim my husband grew indignant, and declared that I might take my lover's money and go. The trouble over this money was the only slead that is money was the only cloud that came into our married life. For fourteen years I brooded over it. Then came a letter from a lawyer stating that the money was lying idle, and that I should claim it. It was in the custody of Anna Vandore, Marcus' sister. Later we was end entered. ter. Last fall a letter came asking me to meet a lady in St. Louis, but instead of meeting her lawyer Shoeman appeared on the scene and gave me a draft for $60,000, together with $20,000 cash.

I then went to Denver, and shortly afterwards received a note asking me to meet Miss Vandore at Pueblo. I went there, and again Shoeman appeared, telling me that Miss Vandore was dying. I fainted, and when I regained consciousness I found myself a prisoner. The draft and cash l had secreted in my bustle, but my jailers secured it. A campfire was held at the Court-house, which was crowded to suffocating, and when all was ready General Burns assisted Mrs. General Pickett to the stand amid tremendous cheers, which shook the building, and introduced her and her son o the audience. THE OLD BATTLEFIELD VISITED. GETTYSBURG (Pa.) July 3d.-Very little nore sleep visited the eyes of the people of Settysburg last night than on the night of July 2, 1863. The morning was spent in sight-seeing and going over the field. At 1:30 P. M. the procession formed at the Eagle Hotel, and led by Adjutant Whitecar and followed by the band, took up its n arch toward the place where, twenty-four years before, the Philadelphia men had held their position against the famous Pickett Division of Longstreet's Corps of the Army of Northern Virginia. At length they reached "Bloody Angle." The band strikes up "Rally Round the Flag, Boys," and the old Philadelphia Brigade is once more on the ground they so nobly defended against such overwhelming odds. The stone fence is still standing behind which the Philadelphia Brigade made its heroic stand, and the two monuments of the Sixty ninth and Seventy-first Regiments are lo

I take pleasure in certifying to the medicinal properties of the Ætna Mineral Waters. It is not from a mere cursory investigation, but after a year's constant use of the Ætna that I am convinced of its splendid remedial qualities. As a general regulator of the system it cannot be too highly praised. From my own personal experience I believe it will prove a blessing to those who use it. Before the ceremony began Mrs. Pickett, escorted by General Burns, took her seat n the platform, and the crowd at once cheered her. Now, Adjutant-General Mc-Dermott stepped forward and presented her with a beautiful floral cross which had been given the brigade by Mrs. Reed, of Philadelphia, and which they now wished o present to her.

From 12 m. until 2 P. Considering the freshness of the work pon it, the diamond was in fine shape and the field was also good. After a little more use, there will be nothing that the nost captious ball-player can find fault with about it. During the preliminary practice the Hussar Band rendered some excellent music, and it and the practice made the time pass very pleasantly. The seats were found to be comfortable, and the special stand was voted a grand suc cess. During the game the scores of the game between the Haverlys and Greenhood Morans at San Francisco were received by a Postal Telegraph operator located in the scorer's stand, and shown upon the large dials on the blackboard simultaneously with those of the game in progress here, thus giving those present two games at the same time. When the Pioneers came on the ground they were given a cordial reception, "Mc-Ginty" Carroll especially. In the toss the Altas wen, and sent their opponents to the bat. Moore hit the second bail pitched for a base, and eventually made a run. Caveny the Altas' first man, also hit the second ball pitched, and reached third base, but could not get home. During the game the Pioneers conducted an exceedingly noisy system of "coaching," in which their men on the bench frequently joined, and which the spectators found very senseless and dis agreeable, as it did little toward "rattling" their opponents and only created confusion The players on that side also did a grea deal of kicking, and the effervescent Gagus toward the close of the game was fined $5 by the umpire, who immediately aftermore fines and a strong determination on the part of the umpire to have his authority respected cannot fail to have a good ef-

Lovett is not a success in left field, though a hard-working, honest player. He did much better in right. Flint was not "at himself" yesterday either. Mullee was wild, giving five bases on balls, and having four wild pitches. He sent the balls in with terrific speed, however, and only ten hits were secured by the opposing batters, while the Altas made fourteen off of Gagus. The most noticeable feature of the game, and one to which, after all, the Altas may well attribute much of their lack of success, was Moore's won-derful fielding and throwing. He made running catches of four very difficult flies, which would have escaped almost any one noved into so lofty a plane of excellence a long throw to home, shutting off a runner in fine style. And yet, during the first part of the game, he was noisy, and seemed to be "half-full," as usually he is very

In the first inning Moore hit to right field, but Caveny prevented his making more than one base. He worked around, however, and tallied on a wild pitch. The Altas did not score. In the second inning Hayes, of the Pio neers, hit to pitcher safely, and after being advanced by Sheridan, was brought home by Moore. Mullee, for the Altas, got a base on balls, and stole second. McLaughlin sent his safely to center. Newbert drove the ball so far into left field that Taylor could not find it in time to prevent a home run being made, and tallies scored by Mullee and McLaughlin. Flint drove one equally good into center field and made three bases. He would have also made a home run but for his falling while speeding around. Robertson went out on a foul third. Lovett, after being hit on the head and again on the hand, stood up to his work pluckily, and brought in Flint by a three-bagger. Caveny "fanned." Powers and Anderson found the ball nicely, but Mullee went out on a foul to Carroll.

Neither side scored in the third and ourth innings. In the fifth, Buckley his to left field, who muffed it. Carroll fanned Moore hit to Newbert, who assisted Buck ley out at the plate. ## IRRIGATION.

hood & Morans beat the Pioneers, 15 to 3, THE KEYSTONE TO SUCCESS IN SMALL FARMING.

> Thousands of Homes in Sacramento County.

The Galt Gazette of last Saturday very truly says : The necessity of the farmers of this county organizing for the purpose of formulating some scheme by which the broad fertile acres in the southern halt of the county can be supplied by a proper system of irrigation, is daily becoming more urgent. We are pleased to see Colonel E. R. Hamilton, of the Sacramento Bank, acting in behalf of the Sacramento County Improvement Association, taking such a deep interest in this very important subject. In the whole State of California there is not a county that presents more natural facilities and more inexhaustible water supplies to draw from than Sacramento. It can also be truly stated that these water supplies can be reached more cheaply, and and that canals and irrigation ditches from the fountain head can be had at a smaller cost in this county to irrigate a larger section of rich farming country than in any other section of the State. An acquaintance with the favorable geographical lay of the immense tract of land that can be brought under irrigation in Sacramento county. with accessible ever-flowing streams of ountry referred to.

Mr. Hamilton addresses a circular to the farmers of this county, in which he says:
"From experience in doing business in Merced, Fresno and Tulare counties, and observing the immense benefit those counties are now deriving from irrigation, and noticing the volume of water in the American river that is flowing past us, I am con-vinced that by a concert of action of the farmers of Sacramento county the water of said American river can be carried across in a canal to the southern edge of the county, and thereby made to irrigate the lands between said canal and the Sacramento river, thereby enriching and in water to draw from, will convince any sane mind of the truth and practicability of the views we hold regarding the section of creasing the products and value of the said land many times its present value.' This scheme of irrigation suggested by olonel Hamilton is a feasible one, but there are other and less expensive methods of bringing water to the "southern edge of the county," and which we will endeavor to explain further on. Our ideas of the cheapest and most practical way of irrigating that portion of Sacramento county south of Brighton township to Dry creek, would be simply as follows: All the available land for irrigation purposes north of Sheldon, including Elk Grove and Florin, to Brighton, we would look to the American river for the source of supply, and would direct the water from that stream as suggested by Colonel Hamilton, by a canal across the section of country described. All of the lead souther that scribed. All of the land south of the Co sumnes river to Dry creek in need of irrigation could be supplied with water in ditches from the headwaters of the Cosumnes river and Dry creek, and if needs be the Mokelumne river could be tapped at an elevation sufficient to canal a stream of water that would flood the whole basin between the Cosumnes and the Mokelumne and furnish water supply for all purposes. Such a general system of irrigation can be most successfully introduced in this county, and the enterprise would prove one

Such questions must be determined in connection with preliminary surveys, otherwise some interference with the rights of others might in the future be developed. The writer is informed the making of the surveys and the collection of other data on which the location of the main canal and its principal branches will depend, and a report accompanied with the necessary map, to-gether with a preliminary estimate of the cost of works, will take a competent engineer and assistant about two complete and will cost about $750. This survey is the first thing to be done in order to know what can be done, and the proba-

Consequently if the property owners, not only in the city, but also in the country, will send in their names for membership companied with the $5, there will soon

It is the purpose of the Association to inaugurate some reforms, and to generally improve the appearance and financial condition of our city and county, by devoting our time and energies to the same.

The titles of committees, with the duties allotted to each, will give you an idea of the labor to be performed, and we feel that success cannot be attained unless we receive your hearty and cordial, moral and financial aid and support.

If these committees shall receive the aid and If these committees shall receive the aid and encouragement from you desired, we hope to soon observe an improved appearance in our city and county, and an impetus given to all lines of business that will amply reward our efforts. It should be remembered that our Association being purely voluntary, and having no legal authority to enforce its recommendations, can accomplish little unless it receives the moral and material support of a large body of influential citizens. Therefore, we hope that you will promptly hand in your name to the Society or to the Canvassing Committee for membership in the Association.

Metropolitan Theater. A stock company opened at this house Saturday evening which is to play a round of dramas for some time, at a low price of admission. The company embraces Geo. Wessells, leading man, a competent and experienced artist: J. P. Rutledge, a thoroughly reliable stock actor; Wm. Deal and Logan Paul, well known and good support, and Ed. Martin, low comedy character, and others, some of whom are inadequate to the tasks given them. The play for to-night and to-day is in keeping with the patriotic anniversary, entitled. "Sons of '76." Few plays of this character have much dramatic merit and fewer still any literary excellence, and this is like all of them. Aside from the old-time costumery and the patriotic expressions, it has little to attract. Accidentally Drowned. About 2 P. M. yesterday a party of eight young men, employed on Weinstock & Lubin's ranch, Brighton township, went to the American river, back of Mayhew's, to enjoy a swim. One of them, Chas. Nelson, did not at first intend to go into the water, though he said he could swim, but after a ittle chaffing and urging he changed his nind, undressed and entered the stream at a place where there was a depth of about eight feet. He began to swim, and his companions thought he was able to take care of himself, but he suddenly went under. The others prepared to rescue him, and one, by cling to a tree with one hand, almost grasped him as he drifted by. reached a sandbar, 20 or 30 feet further down, and appeared to gain his feet and stand almost upright, but immediately fell backwards and disappeared. The body has not yet been recovered, though ener-getic search has been made. Deceased was about 21 years of age, and arrived here re-cently from San Diego, where his family
